

Stonegate Email News of January 5, 2007

Holiday Tree Launch Failure? The citywide holiday tree pickup came through Stonegate last Tuesday. If you missed it, you can take your tree to Scottsdale Ranch Park this Saturday (January 6) for a special collection effort. If that doesn't work for you, you can put your tree out for the bulk and brush pick-up, the week of January 15th. In either case, the tree should not be curbside now.

January De-Lights. Stonegate's holiday decorations and lights are down. If yours aren't, this is a great weekend for it. Failing that, next weekend is also good. Stonegate asks that you have yours down no later than January 25.

Contemporary Cinema is a four week film class which will be offered free by Scottsdale Film Academy, here at the Stonegate Community Center. The teachers will be Ed Everroad, the very popular film instructor at Scottsdale Community College, and his colleague Dr. Judy Balan, a Stonegate resident. If you can commit to 4-5PM for the four Mondays in February, sign up by calling Dr. Balan at (480) 661-3952 or email film2007@aol.com. Be sure to give your name, email and phone number. The group is limited to 30 seats. Stonegate Email News and Stonegate Channel 22 will post the assigned film for each week.

The Physical Property Committee will meet on Friday, January 12 at 3PM to consider the architect's recommendations for bringing our recreational area into compliance with Maricopa County's revised ordinances regarding fencing and related matters. You're invited, and will see postings about it on the bulletin boards soon. The meeting will be informal, at the Community Center.

Stonegate Business Networking Group meets Thursday, January 11 at 6PM in the Community Center. It's a discussion meeting, so bring your ideas – and your business cards.

Razor Scooter found in Tradewinds. If you're missing one, call the Community Center (480) 391-9760 and we'll put you in touch with the people who found it.

Our Safeguard gate officers (Melody Joseph, Virgil Nowell, Cliff Hamilton, Chris Nason and Norma Barber) have asked us to pass along a big thank you to those who made the holiday bright, bringing cakes, cookies, candy and other delicious drop-offs.
