

Stonegate Email News of November 7, 2008

Monday is Jazz Night. Free. From 7 to 9PM, the Community Center will be a lively place. Live music – and dancing if you'd like. Ann Fitzpatrick/Garcia Realty will provide light refreshment. If there's something you especially like to sip while listening to jazz, bring it. You can sit indoors or out, though the latter will be much more enjoyable if you bring a warm sweater or jacket.

The windows are open all over Stonegate. The weather is great. And that's always a big problem for people who own dogs. When left outdoors unattended, dogs will bark. Good ones, bad ones, they all do it. With open windows, every growl and yip is an annoyance to the neighbors. The CC&Rs clearly state that your dog must not be allowed to become a nuisance to your neighbors. If you own a dog, it's your responsibility to make sure that the neighbors aren't bothered by your animal.
